

In case you missed it...

Aloha First name / friend,

808 Cleanups was recently spotlighted on Hawai'i News Now during the HI Now Daily segment and in Honolulu Magazine as an exciting activity to do on O'ahu.

Both of these features offer a closer look at our restoration work happening across the island and showcase ways to get involved with 808 Cleanups. We wanted to share with our volunteers since you make this work possible!

Hawai'i News Now

Executive Director, Michael Loftin, and Director of Community Outreach, Kimeona Kane, were hosted on HI Now Daily to chat about Native Hawaiian Plant Month and the restoration activities at our sites.

Like their shirts? Get yours today!

Kimeona & Michael Discuss 808 Cleanups

Honolulu Magazine

Staff writers tried dozens of activities and created a list of ones they recommend to others. In the outdoors section, they spoke about restoring a Native Hawaiian bee habitat at our Kaiwi site.

"I like that this volunteer assignment has a low barrier to entry: It's only two hours, and supplies are provided. So now I know—next time I have a rough day at work, I can grab a pickax and do something productive. —Katrina Valcourt, Executive Editor at Honolulu Magazine

Read "We Tried It and You Can Too" by Honolulu Magazine

---

We are always excited when we can share the amazing work that our volunteers are doing. Mahalo for all you do and for being a part of our organization!

Mahalo Nui!
The 808 Cleanups Team

PO Box 240341
Honolulu, HI 96824, United States

Unsubscribe or Manage Preferences